

Congratulations Dr. Adrienne Lee

PARA's Resident of the Month for August 2009

Dr. Adrienne Lee is from Vancouver and completed her undergrad at UBC in cell biology and genetics continued on to medical school. She started as an R1 in internal medicine at University of Alberta, and then moved to Calgary for the remainder of training. Outside of school, Adrienne continues to do lab work on mycobacterium paratuberculosis infection and Crohn's disease, loves cooking, snowboarding, dancing, yoga and having fun with her friends.

A fellow resident had this to say:

“Adrienne Lee, recruited from Edmonton a year ago, has become the corner stone of Internal Medicine (R3) in Calgary. Always smiling and ready to tease at any occasion, Adrienne is a pleasure to work with on the wards. President of the PPC (Party Planning Committee), she has planned many of the IM events and, on Sports Day, she demonstrated her very impressive soccer skills by scoring on her own team. IM wouldn't be the same without Adrienne. The residents and staff have all benefited academically and professionally from her contributions to the program.”
