

RESIDENT PHYSICIAN Of the MONTH

April

A colleague had this to say about Dr. Moher :

When you meet Conrad Moher, the first thing you might notice is his irrepressible energy. If you get to know him, you will be struck by his curiosity, kindness and dedication to helping others.

Conrad is a PGY-3 in Anatomical Pathology and a Wellness Representative for the program. Not only does Conrad organize formal and informal wellness events, he is also the social glue of our close-knit program and is constantly working to ensure resident physicians feel connected. No small task during Covid times.

Conrad exemplifies work-life balance in many ways. In the summer months, he can be found golfing with his wife and friends and running the YEG trails. (He managed to run a marathon during the summer heat wave!) In the winter, he can be found skating and skiing (and organizing events with skating and skiing for Path resident physicians) Any time of year, he's a karaoke star and an avid foodie.

Dr. Moher is involved in teaching both junior residents physicians and medical students. He is the encouraging teacher you always hope to encounter as a learner. He has also been involved in very interesting bench top molecular research, is a scholar as well as a health advocate, and an example for us all.

Dr. Conrad Moher Anatomical Pathology University of Alberta

I am one of those everything in Edmonton resident physicians who was born in Edmonton, grew up in Edmonton, did Undergrad and Med School in Edmonton and now I'm doing residency physician training in Edmonton! I am currently in my PGY-3 year of Anatomical Pathology at the University of Alberta.

My wife Stephanie and I are expecting our first baby on July 1st. We try and make it out to the mountains as often as possible—hit me up for recommendations on where to eat and stay! I can be quite obsessive about my hobbies and will gladly talk your ear off if you bring up a subject I'm passionate about. I enjoy running and I even ran the Edmonton Marathon last year (it was virtual—so it was just like me and my phone running around the city for hours). I am also one of those people who got super into golf during the pandemic. I'm terrible at it but still love playing 18 on a nice day. I'm a total movie nerd and am always trying to find new and interesting genres of music (the latest=Hyperpop).

Shout out to all my co-residents physicians in Pathology and my former program General Surgery! Good-luck to everyone writing the Royal College Exam this month and in the coming months—you're gonna do great!
